Conclusion

Request No. 4337 for filming has been denied upon the grounds of potential reckless endangerment. The ruling of this permit is applicable to the entire Black Hills Forest, including the following areas, at which frequent incidents requiring ranger intervention have occurred. Trespassing upon these areas will result in a heavy fine and a charge of reckless endangerment, with no exceptions.

- Chimney Top Landing nice and high, Poor visibility — dense foliage (mostly eastern white pine), maybe
- Dead Man's Rock search party, god no
- The Ruins too far, the hermit?
- Jones Camp Falls the Pale thing, never
- The Trench good cover, but how deep? oak leaves, good for tinder?
- Rocky Flats hard to find, tough hike to get there, treeline sparse, but maybe
- Dutch Hill the lights, no
- Pine Hollow the most remote, access to water, maybe

If you wish to appeal your ruling, you may submit an O81 form with the Maryland Parks and Wilderness Commission.

CAMPING PERMIT APPLICATION

Reminder: All camping trips and excursions must be cleared with a Maryland Parks and Wilderness Commission representative at least TWO WEEKS PRIOR to the desired arrival date. Failure to comply will result in forced removal from the site and risks permanent ban.
