

WHAT'S TWO WORDS
LONG AND RHYMES
WITH SAFARI?

Hey LV,

I know this isn't what you want to hear, but you need to hear it. After working with you the last month, I've gotten a real good feel for what you can't and can't do. As harsh as it sounds, you can't land the guard, we have to stop pushing for it before you get hurt. I'm so, so sorry.

We already knew the move was likely impossible, and considering your battle with lupus, your joints just can't handle the kind of training we'd have to do to attempt it at this stage. That said, let's finish out the competition strong.

I shouldn't have gotten your hopes up. Sometimes I get so invested in fighting for a student that

I set unrealistic goals. When Sofia didn't make the tournament, I petitioned any ASA official that would hear my case to get her in.

ME SORRY.

Of course, that didn't work.

You must be pretty pissed off at me right now. We can talk this through in person if you want, but I'll tell you right now I won't change my mind.

Remember that distressing exercise I taught you? Where you write your feelings out on a slip of paper and throw it down from the track before practice?

I do it all the time, even though Carol hates it. Might be good for you to try that before practice.

Sorry again Kiddo,
Nathan

Decadent
DESIGN