

MARCUS LOURDES

Attn: With the tournament mere weeks away,

I think it would be a good time to announce to you, my esteemed colleagues, that this rink is soon to change ownership and become property of The Lourdes Group.

As such, under this new management, the employees of this establishment will be held to a higher standard of professionalism than many of you have become used to from here on out. For example, the new owners have ~~all~~ already added a new rule, which you can see yourself on the updated list of rink rules that has been posted. It is right under the one about carrying children and strollers. They will not take kindly to repeat offenders. With that in mind, many of you would do good to recall the following:

1. All of the rink rules apply all of the time. I don't care if the rink is closed to the public; you will treat this place with respect, or you will be removed.

2. We have a procedure for requesting songs to which you can complain about not getting into the competition. Stop blaring distasteful music from your phone during practice.

3. Only skaters and rink personnel are allowed in the offices. Mothers of skaters, no matter how self-important or entitled they may feel, do not count as personnel.

4. For the last time, leave the blue sashed mascot at home. This rink hardly needs another old boy getting in everybody's way.
5. Discipline under the new coach must be lacking. There is a bike rack just outside of the double doors. Use it.
6. If I find one more can of your students disgusting, sugar-laden energy drinks stuck to the sideboards after practice, I will personally contact his sponsor and end their support.
