SECTION B

CASE SUMMARY

At 10:19 AM, TPPD received a phone call from Kingston Lee who reported that he found the body of Nathan LaPalma lifeless on the ice at Three Pines Ice Rink. Emergency responders arrived on scene at 10:29 AM, followed by Officers Miguel Dirk and Dean Hilten at 10:31 AM.

The deceased was found lying on his back in a pool of blood near the southeast entrance of Rink A (See Fig. 1). All personnel entered from the east entrance. All other entrances to the rink were closed.

Emergency responders declared Mr. LaPalma deceased at the scene upon their arrival. Officers took a preliminary statement from the reporting party, Kingston Lee. Mr. Lee stated that he was a journalist visiting the rink for research and press purposes. He said he had gained entry through the front vestibule doors, which had been left unlocked. He claimed that the building was closed to the public at that time.

Five individuals were also gathered around the scene: Anne Campbell, Harrison Campbell, Lillian Varma, Carol Donnelly, and Marcus Lourdes. All individuals confirmed there were no other people in the facility at the time although one person had recently left. Officer Dirk held all six of the individuals in the building lobby while Officer Hilten accompanied the crime scene photographer, Harper Murphy, to collect evidence.

During the walkthrough, a slip of paper was found in proximity to the body, as well as the victim's cell phone.

Officer Hilten then noted the blood spatter along the sideboards of the southeast entrance as well as a bloodied skate blade just outside its doors. A faint, partial shoe print transfer pattern on the ice pointed in the direction of the locker rooms. The photographer and officer then continued searching the remainder of the area.

The smell of burning rubber led the investigators to the generator room. Inside, a furnace was still warm and producing smoke. Burnt materials inside appear to be the remains of two shoes and a single glove. The materials have been sent for testing but may be too damaged to be admissible.

SECTION B

Mrs. Murphy captured thirty-one total photos, some of which have been included in Section D.

Officer Dirk then requested any security footage from the day of the crime and was told that the sole camera housed in the front vestibule only took photographs spaced in ten-second intervals. The select footage was then flagged for review and archived in the security system to prevent automatic or manual deletion.

Officer Hilten and Officer Dirk proceeded to take statements from each of the six suspects at the rink. These statements revealed that there was another suspect not present at the time of the interviews: Sofia de la Torre. Officer Dirk requested a statement from her at a later date. All interviews were later filed as a separate, connected report (Filed as #224-102513).
