

- Leather loafers
- Bicycle was chained to the cemetery gate, likely belonged to Ms. Broussard

External:

- Fixed rigor mortis & postmortem lividity
- Perimortem gunshot wound to left temple, roughly .2 in. diameter (see recording)
- Body found with foreign liquid residue still present in the mouth and pooled in the upper esophagus. Most likely ingested right before death.
- > Liquid collected and sent for analysis
- Postmortem abrasions on right anterior thigh ~ 1.79 cm x 2.46 cm

Internal:

All organs are usual in size and location, no internal lacerations found

Weights

- Heart — 279 grams
- Brain — 1341 grams, iso dense
- Spleen — 166 grams
- Kidneys — (L) 129 grams (R) 121 grams

Decedent not pregnant at time of death.

No perimortem or postmortem injuries to genitals present.

Evidence collected

- Blood, urine, bile, tissue of the heart, lung, brain, spleen, and liver
- Gunpowder near the entry wound sent to lab
- Postmortem CT scan ordered
- Chemical analysis ordered of substance collected from patient's teeth, gums, tongue, and upper esophagus

Patient identified as Ms. Celestine Broussard

Autopsy Notes | 2/17 - 8:47 AM

Body recovered from wall vault in St. Louis Cemetery #1 with a body temperature of 106.1°F at 4:40 AM according to emergency responders

Clothing/valuables found at the scene:

- Dark brown handbag, opened
 - museum tickets
 - NO. 2 pencil, broken
 - 3 receipts
 - 4 keys on keyring with plastic alligator keychain
 - 1 package of pocket tissues
 - plastic shopping bag, tied closed
 - Vial of unlabeled ink
 - 2 vials of assorted herbs
 - parchment paper
 - Spool of thread with a needle
 - 3 candles
- Velcro wallet containing
 - 4 loose 20$ bills
 - 2 credit cards
 - medical insurance card
 - Laminated "Friends & Family Lifetime Discount" card, Fortier Foods
- 2 gold hoop earrings
- 2 rings on the right hand
- 1 beaded anklet on left ankle
- Blouse
- Skirt
- Underwear
- Brassiere
- Ankle socks